

Notre Dame Institute for ADVANCED STUDY

Templeton Colloquium at the NDIAS: The Invisible Aspects of Human Evolution

Monday, April 14, 2014, 3:45pm

“Questions and Answers”

Session Moderator:

Agustín Fuentes is a Professor and Chair of Anthropology at the University of Notre Dame. A biological anthropologist, his interests include primatology, the evolution of social organization, primate ecology and conservation, human-nonhuman primate interactions and Southeast Asia and Gibraltar. He is the author of several books, including his most recent: Race, Monogamy and Other Lies They Told You: Busting Myths About Human Nature (2012) and Evolution of Human Behavior (2009), as well as numerous articles in scholarly journals. He is the co-editor of Ethics in the Field: Contemporary Challenges (2013), Centralizing Fieldwork: Critical Perspectives from Primatology, Biological and Social Anthropology (2011), and Primates in Perspective (2007, 2011). His work has been funded by grants from the National Geographic Society, the John Templeton Foundation, the Andrew Mellon Foundation, and the National Science Foundation. In 2012, he was awarded a fellowship at the Center for Theological Inquiry, as a member of the Inquiry on Evolution and Human Nature research team.